Well, another KENO HILLCLIMB is past; this one seeing the crowning of a new King & Queen of the hill. Congratulations this year go to Emmett Wilder, who, after an exciting seesaw battle with Jeff Bowden, claimed King honors with his final run. Also after many years of coming close, Gail Whitlock won the Queen of the Hill title. Many thanks to all who traveled countless miles to attend the event, and a very special thanks to the many who volunteered and worked. We couldn't have done it without you. Again my sincerest apologies for the short notice on announcing the event. We will do better next year.

Everyone seemed to enjoy themselves this year and we hope they will return next year and bring their friends. The good times were marred by two incidents, however, one being the sideswiping of one of our competitor's tow rig by a hit and run driver. The other was the deliberate vandalism, by flattening two tires on the tow rig & two tires on the trailer, both belonging to Jeff Bowden. If anyone at the hill saw anyone fooling around the vicinity of Jeff's rig, please contact either Jeff or Sports & Imports. It was a childish & senseless act, and we don't need those kind of people at a serious competitive event.
